City changes Lemon Avenue zoning to heavy commercial and considers five-year street resurfacing plan

by Lisa Parsons

The Lemon Grove City Council voted to change the land-use designation in the General Plan on the south side of Lemon Avenue, between Buena Vista Avenue and Olive St, from general commercial to heavy commercial.

The decision was reached after a public hearing attended by several people who own property in the area. The decision came after City Staff assessed whether or not the City was in need of more retail/commercial property. The Redevelopment Consultant was of the opinion that Lemon Grove is overstocked on retail/commercial property and therefore it was counterproductive to orderly development of the commercial area to retain the retail/commercial zoning classification on the property. Further, the applicants, John and Charlotte Craig, stated that the retail/commercial zoning designation on their property was stifling development of their property because there is no demand for retail/commercial uses on Lemon Ave.

The City Engineer and the Fire Marshall had expressed some concern that the street was not wide enough for heavy commercial zone designation. Members of the Planning Commission were concerned about large trucks entering and leaving the street at Buena Vista and the Fire Marshall was concerned about heavy trucks being parked in the street and impeding fire apparatus. Staff concluded that the street was very similar to others with a heavy commercial designation and thought it unlikely that the City would remove the curbs and sidewalks on Lemon Avenue and move them back the six feet on each side to meet a heavy commercial standard.

City Staff also reported to the Council on an engineer's report to begin a five year plan to resurface several streets in Lemon Grove. The engineering firm, Bement, Dainwood and Sturgeon, has prepared a program that includes dig-out and base repair on some of the streets, petromat coating, and sealing of cracks before they are resurfaced. The estimated cost, including installing concrete cross gutters in ten locations throughout the City, is $565,000. The streets that are proposed for resurfacing this year are:

Washington Street from Broadway to Golden Avenue, Buena Vista Ave. from San Miguel Ave. to Broadway, Madison Ave. from Corona St. to cul de sac, Daytona Street from Alford St. to New Jersey Ave., Burnell Ave. from Main St. to Cypress Ave., West St. from Broadway to Pacific Ave., Pacific Ave from Main St. to Buena Vista Ave., North Ave. from Buena Vista Ave. to Main St., Lincoln St. from Kempf to Lemon Grove Ave., Palm St. From Skyline Dr. to Troy St., Troy St. from Palm Ave. to Sweetwater Rd., Roy St. from Golden Ave. to cul de sac, Sweetwater Way from Broadway to end, College Ave. from Federal Blvd to overpass, Mt. Vernon from 69th St. to Main St. and McKnight Dr. from Madera St. to Mt. Vernon.

The resurfacing of streets on the new water pipeline route will be delayed until completion of the pipeline project.

Local hazardous household materials collection day scheduled for September 8

The Household Hazardous Materials Program is holding a collection event for household hazardous waste on Saturday, September 8, 1990 from 10:00 a.m. to 3:00 p.m. on the grounds of San Diego Recycling at 6700 Federal Blvd. in Lemon Grove. The community is encouraged to bring unused portions of household hazardous materials including paint, solvents, varnish, drain opener, oven cleaner and any other products labeled CAUTION, WARNING, DANGER or POISON to the collection event. Collection events are a community service provided by the County and City of San Diego (in cooperation with the Environmental Health Coalition and Appropriate Technologies II).

For further information on household hazardous waste or future collection events, call 619-338-2267.

Recently, State Assemblyman Peter R. Chacon, above left, (D-San Diego) met with Rev. Ed Pettis, above right, chairman of the Valley Grove Nutrition Board, and Lourdes Contreras, agency director of the Valley/Grove Nutrition Center. The center services seniors from throughout Lemon Grove by providing daily activities as well as nutritious meals. Assemblyman Chacon spoke to Contreras about the variety of programs available at the center. "I am most impressed with the senior day care program available at this center," said Chacon. "It provides an alternative for seniors who might otherwise have to be placed in residential care."

Later, while speaking to the La Mesa Kiwanis Club, Contreras, representing the Valley/Grove Nutrition Board, told members that her organization would now be providing service to La Mesa residents in a new La Mesa Senior Nutrition program. Using sites in McArthur Park at 4975 Memorial Drive and at 8070 Orange Ave. in La Mesa, the program provides approximately 45 hot, nutritious meals daily, monthly blood pressure checks, once a month egg sales, and home delivered meals to Seniors who are home-bound and are unable to come to the nutrition sites.

Contreras urged those in the audience to help both in encouraging program participation and in volunteering themselves to help with food deliveries and other related tasks.

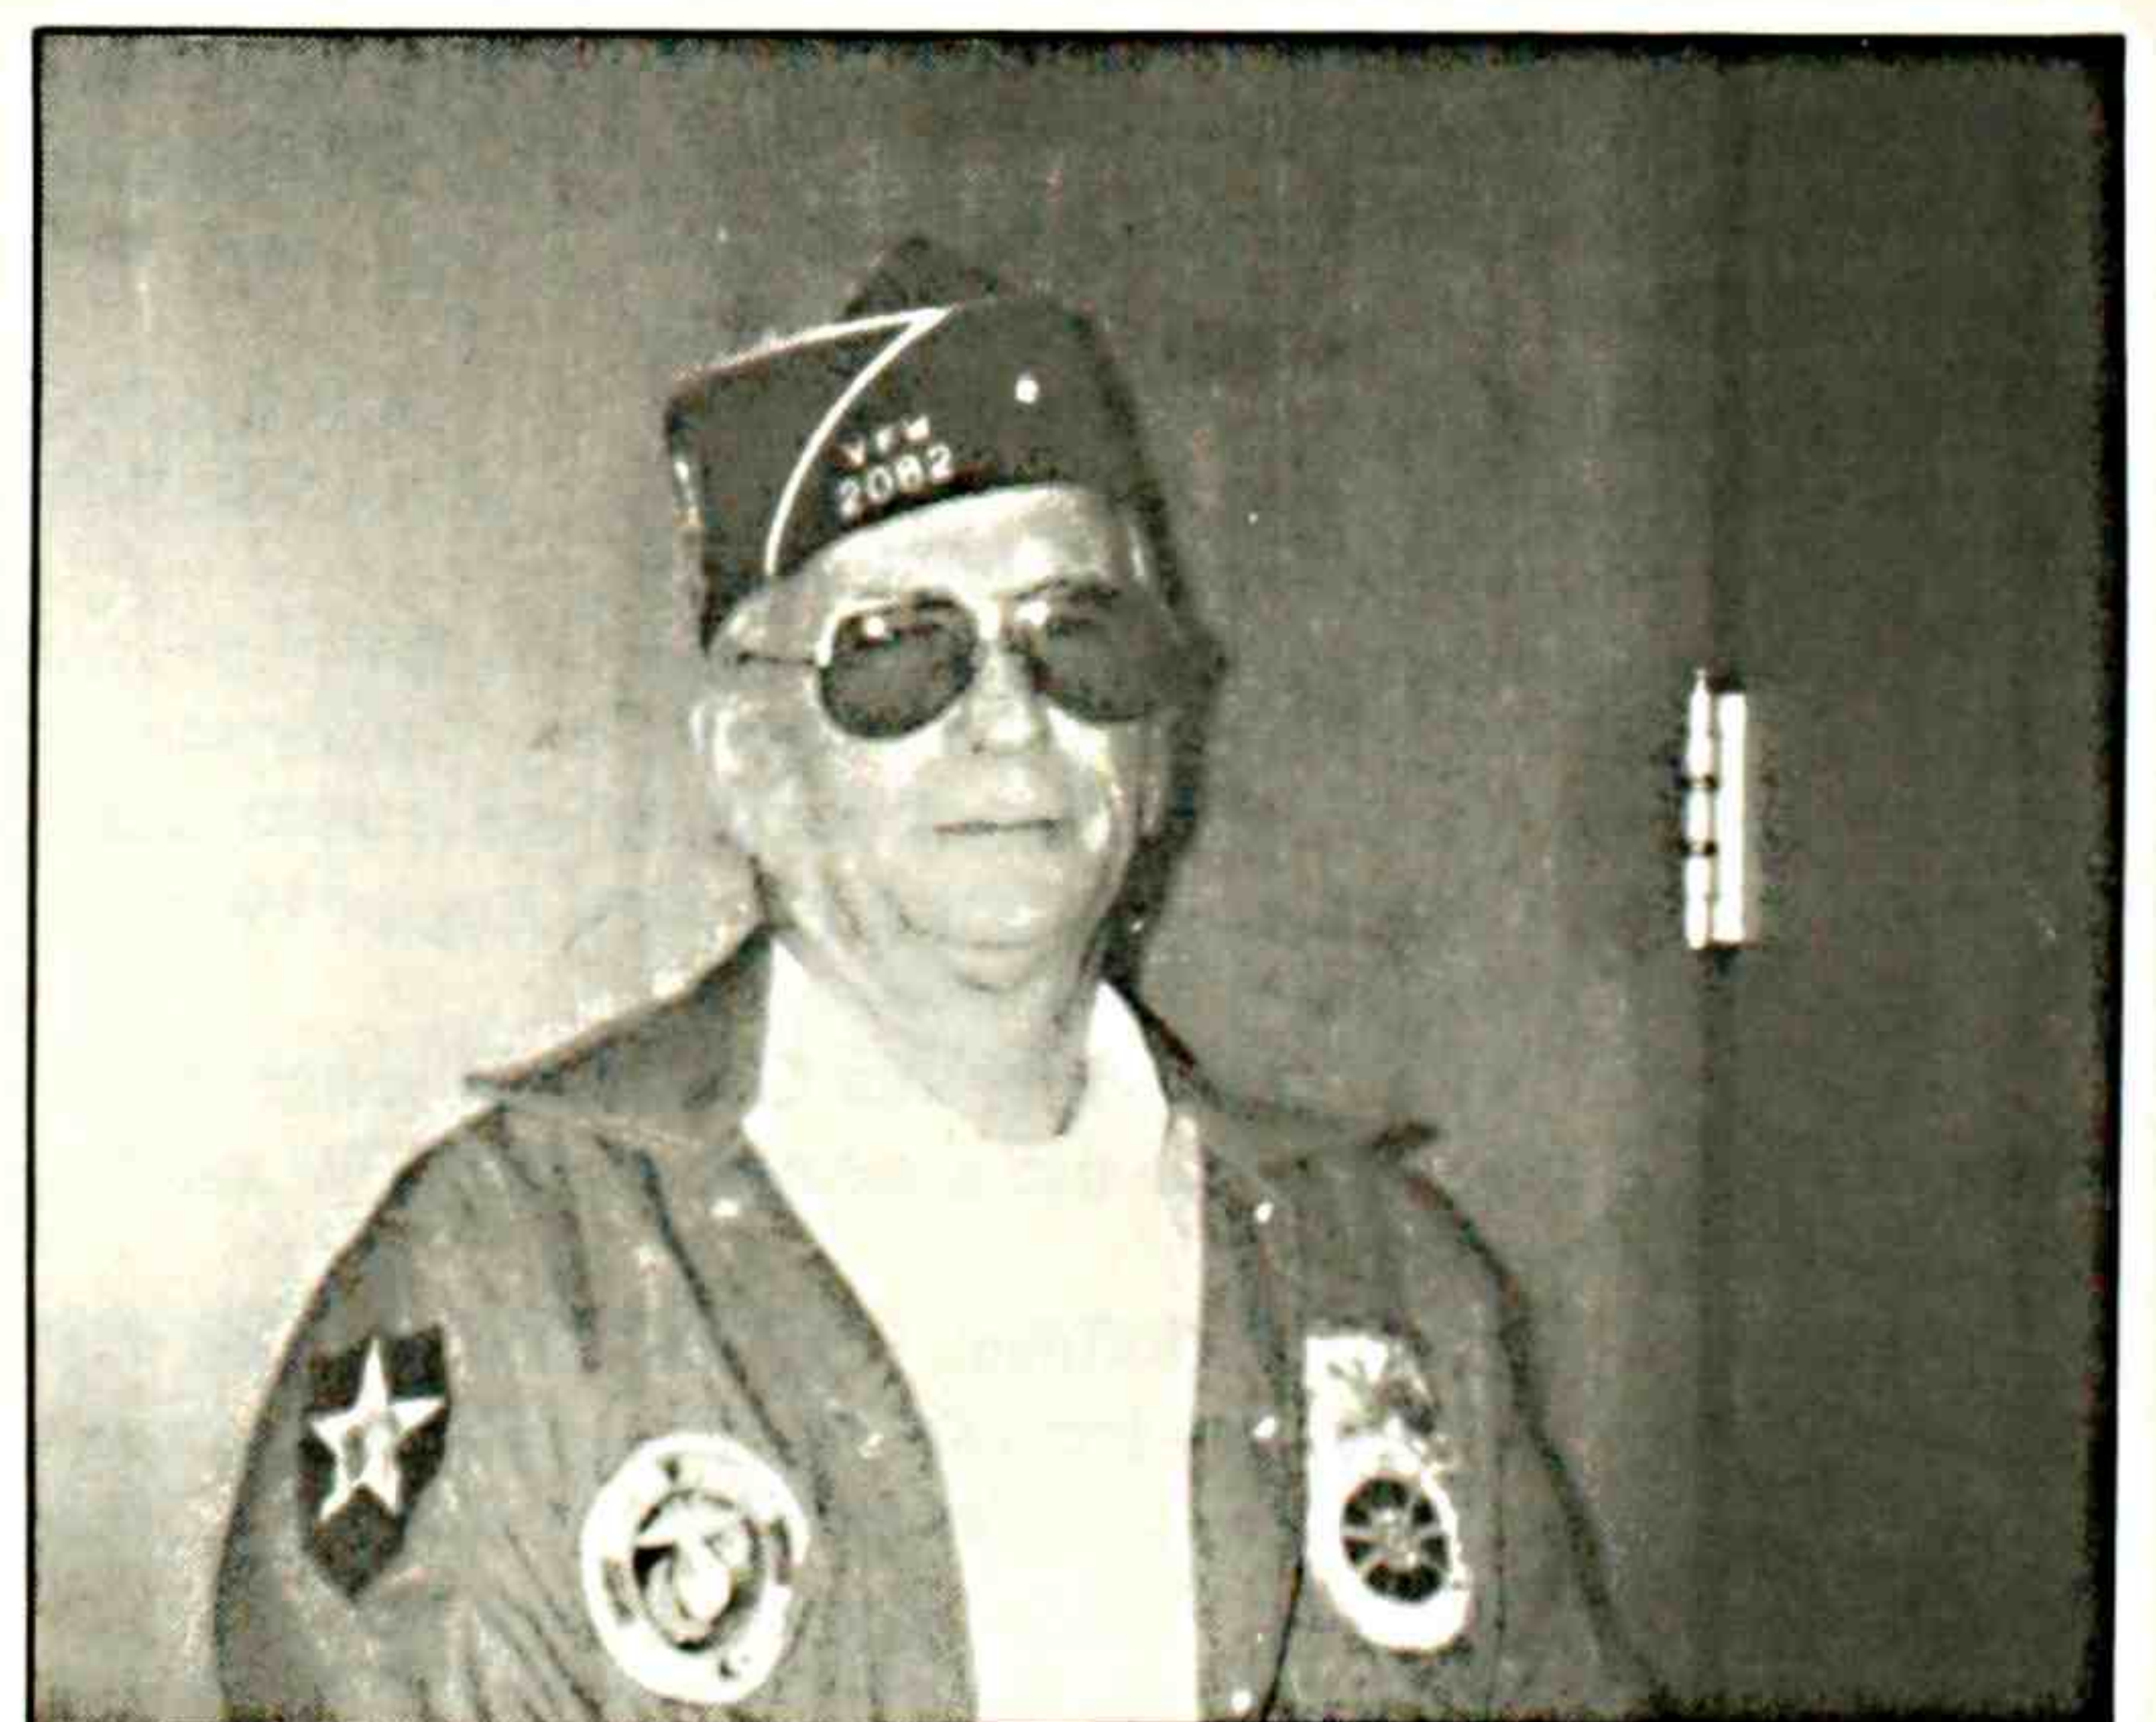

Vet returns to Korea to fulfill vow

by Lisa Parsons

Nearly 39 years ago at this time, Harold Ward was a member of the 2nd Infantry Division engaged in battle at Bloody Ridge. His friend and brother-in-law, Norman Darling, was there too, serving in the 9th Regiment. "For several days the hill ran red with American, Korean and Chinese blood," said Ward. "The night skies were turned a red cast from the continuous firing of guns and the use of napalm." When things quieted down a bit, Ward began searching for his brother-in-law, finally he discovered that Norman Darling was killed in action.

Ward said he quickly made two vows—"That Norman's death would be avenged and that he would never be forgotten."

Now, after 39 years, Ward is returning to Korea with his wife, Pat, for a reunion of the 2nd Infantry Division and to fulfill his second vow by placing a wreath in Darling's honor, and bearing his name, in the general vicinity of Bloody Ridge. "This way I can shout to the world that my friend and comrade is not forgotten, to this day, 39 years later," said Ward.

Ward will also place a wreath in honor of all those killed or missing in action on behalf of Lemon Grove VFW Post 2082.

The Korean Veterans Association will honor Ward and other attending Americans who served in Korea with a banquet and a medal.

But Ward also wanted to salute the Korean soldiers who fought along side him, by presenting them with a book of memories and pictures from the members of VFW Post 2082. "It's just one way of saying, 'job well done' for their efforts too. They went right up the hill with us," said Ward. "It lets them know we haven't forgotten. This will be an exchange of the only thing we have left--memories."

Ward, a resident of Lemon Grove, has lived in San Diego for nearly 59 years and is a graduate of Hoover High School. He spent three years in the Army and was awarded battle stars for his participation at Bloody Ridge and Heartbreak Ridge. Later he was sent to Germany and spent time patrolling the border between East Germany and Czechoslovakia. After his return to San Diego, he served four years in the Marine Corps Reserves and worked for the Navy Aircraft Rework facility at North Island Naval Air Station. Ward is currently employed as a tractor trailer operator with the Fornaca Family Bakery, a position he has held for 30 years.

Ward said the two week trip to Korea will include a reunion of approximately 85 people from all over the United States who served in the 2nd Infantry Division and allow them the opportunity to tour several battle fields.

He said he is proud to represent VFW Post 2082 in Korea and asks that anyone with memories to share for his memory book (whether or not they served in Korea) please contact him at VFW Post 2082.

Associates Corp. buys Mellon Financial outlets

Mellon Financial Services Corp., with a local office located at 7148 Broadway, Lemon Grove, has become part of Associates Corp. of North America as a result of a purchase agreement between the two companies in June.

"Even though our name has changed, we're doing business as usual," according to Branch Manager Lloyd M. Johnsey. "The only difference is the purchase has given Mellon the ability to do more for our customers."

Part of the Financial Services Group of Ford Motor Co., The Associates is one of the nation's leading financial services companies, serving more than one million consumer borrowers and with consumer finance receivables of more than $6 billion.

Tom Slone, president of the Associates U.S. branch network, said the purchase involved the transfer from Mellon of 74 consumer finance branches nationwide.

"Mellon is an outstanding company with strong receivables and quality people, committed to excellent service. It's an important addition to our consumer finance network," he said.

According to Mr. Johnsey, The Associates provides a wide range of lending programs for consumers. Included are real estate lending, home improvement financing, loans for education, and automobile and other financing needs. The company also works with retailers to finance purchases of home entertainment merchandise, furniture and major appliances. Those interested in any of these services may call the branch at 697-9551.

Associates Corp. of North America and its affiliates provide consumer finance, specialized commercial finance and leasing, and insurance through a network of more than 1,000 offices in the U.S., the United Kingdom, Japan, Canada and Puerto Rico. The Associates has assets of $15.6 billion and manages assets of about $4 billion for other units of Ford.

Commentary

by Paul Treske

As one sits before the TV set, trying to concentrate, to digest and to essay understanding of the serious events in the Middle East, one becomes aware of a persistent, annoying buzzing in the air. It is neither a marauding fly or any other pesty insect. It is the television beginnings of California's 1990 gubernatorial race. And as one listens to nagging charge & counter-charge as to who profited more from the Savings and Loan scandal, one is aware that this is going to go on for more than two months! What a prospect!

The newspapers have, rightfully, placed the so-called campaign on the rear pages (unless, of course, it's a slow day in the Middle East) but the TV ad campaign is unavoidable unless one enters a lead mine. Diane Feinstein says that Pete Wilson tried to intercede with federal regulators on behalf of failing S & L institutions while Pete says that Diane and her husband made a large profit from an Oregon S & L they owned. Pete says that Diane's for quotas and Diane says she isn't. Blah, Blah, Blah!

California's educational system has sunk to new lows as compared to other states and budget deficits are causing near disasters in public health. The homeless problem is dealt with simply by moving them from place to place. The state legislature itself is in a state of organizational disarray resembling paralysis, and solves many of its problems by pushing the burden onto the counties - several of which are near bankruptcy.

The list of problems could go on and on but, of course, they will not be dealt with in the campaign. All of us realize by now that only negative campaigning wins elections. The axiom of every slick political operative is, "never make a definite stand on an issue because if you do you're bound to alienate somebody. Or if you do take a stand, make sure it's either on something like no drugs and no crime (on which everyone agrees) or if it's a more difficult issue, make sure it's one on which you and your opponent agree. Then you can endlessly debate over who is more committed to that issue."

"But never, never get deeply involved in issues like budget or education or welfare, because, if you do, your opponent is bound to go negative and leave you defending yourself, and once you go on the defensive, you're cooked."

So the odds are, that between now and November, we will reach a point of regurgitation with the whole business and wish either for a viable third party candidate or cancellation of the election.

In the meantime, though, hoping to keep up with the Saudis and the Iraqis, it would be really helpful if that nagging buzz would go away.

From Where I Sit

by Frank Andrews

After my folks were married 15 years, they got their one and only child, a big boy that they named "Little Frankie." My dad would always brag me up by saying, "It took a while but it was worth the wait because we got quantity plus quality."

Besides being the only child, they named me after my father, so I was a Junior. Being a Junior had few advantages and many disadvantages. All through my young life up until my Dad passed away, we were known as "Big Frank" and "Little Frank." Of course, towards the last, I was bigger than dad but still "Little Frank."

With phone calls, the mail, and other needs to identify it was always, "Who is it for, Junior or Senior?" The signing of any legal papers meant using Junior behind my name. I was sort of proud of that, always thinking it was prestigious like royalty or something.

Due to my father's illegal bootlegging business and being without brothers or sisters, I was always short on playmates. My life would have been mighty lonesome if it weren't for my most faithful old "Yeller Dog," Sockie.

Being the only child has its rewards as I could work one parent against the other to get most anything that I wanted and, boy!, was I ever spoiled rotten. I do believe that my lonesome young life contributed to my running off and getting married two weeks after I turned 19.

I was lucky as a lad that I didn't contract any of those childhood diseases, but waited until after I married. On my honeymoon I came down with Chicken Pox and my new young bride kept reminding, "Stop your continual itching and scratching." While home on furlough during my short stint in the Army Air Corps, I got the Whooping Cough and the Mumps at the same time so that I was able to stretch my two weeks at home to six.

During my "Growing-Up" days, when I was a skinny runt, my mother would offer to pay me if I would eat more. In my teens I started to fill out and then she offered to pay me for not eating so much. Her favorite remark in front of people would be, "If Frankie gets any bigger we're going to put him in the circus." I'm sure that her remarks like that didn't help my self-assurance any.

With all the trials and tribulations that I went through as an "Only Child-Junior" my wife and I had four normal-sized kids without one Junior in the bunch.

Emergency "Right Of Way" rules

The Heartland Fire Agencies are observing "Emergency Vehicle Right of Way" month in August, 1990, as part of the "California State Fire Marshal's Fire Safety and Burn Prevention Awareness Year."

Screaming Sirens - Flashing Lights - A Code 3 Emergency! Paramount on the mind of the driver of an emergency vehicle is to arrive at the scene as safely and quickly as possible....."Lost time could mean lost lives."

People react to this appeal for "Right of Way" in a variety of ways. Some ignore it completely, some respond in the correct manner, and some panic and do the unexpected, often creating a new emergency.

We can all contribute to saving lives by using common sense in emergency situations and by following these rules:

Yield The Right Of Way

The law requires motorists to pull to the right-hand curb and stop to allow emergency vehicles to pass. If you are already stopped at an intersection, move to the right if safe to do so. If not, move in any direction that is safe, and will allow the emergency vehicle to pass. If there is no safe place to move to, sit tight.

After the emergency vehicle has passed, make doubly sure that there are no more emergency vehicles following. Proceed only when it is safe to do so, and remain at least 300 feet behind, so you can be prepared for sudden stops and turns by the emergency vehicles. Pedestrians must get off the street and stay on the curb. Keep children close to you as they may step into the roadway to see the fire truck or ambulance.

Fire Hydrants And Fire Lanes

Fire hydrants and fire lanes must be kept clear of obstructions at all times. Do not park within 15 feet of a fire hydrant, and do not park or stop in a fire lane identified by a red painted curb. These fire lanes are often found at schools and shopping centers where people tend to think that a few minutes won't matter.....These few minutes can be the difference between life and death.

Homeowners who have a hydrant at their property should maintain a clear curbside within the specified 15 feet. Landscaping or other obstructions could have disastrous results, in the event of a real emergency. It is also advisable to keep clear access to your home.

At The Scene

Spectators at the scene are a problem. When spectators slow down or stop at an incident they cause a traffic and safety hazard. Emergency vehicles are delayed and bystanders are often injured, adding to the problems.

Remember, when you hear those sirens and see the red lights.....Give the "Right of Way" and act safely.

Sports Commentary

by John E. Wirges

Big wind blowing in from Pittsburgh

Burton Grossman, the San Diego Chargers self styled super-pass rusher from Pittsburgh, is building his snarling posture for the regular NFL war, but his mouth is already in mid-season form.

Burton, who writes a football-season column for a sports slick that rarely lets the facts get in the way of telling a good story, seems to thrive on blasting hard working athletes who have no easy outlet to counter his asinine essays.

No one minds if Burton takes on NFL behemoths in print while he labors in the catch-as-catch-can grabbing that passes for defensive line play in professional ranks these days.

The good Lord knows those earning his attention can get all manner of physical satisfaction in the coming months.

Chances are Burton doesn't really care if the assorted offensive linemen and running backs he verbally assaults takes umbrage with what he writes. He knows they probably don't know what umbrage means.

A literate lineman is a rarity. Yet, there are those who swear Grossman can actually read without moving his lips.

Taking on the "once-a-week" gladiators of his own calling may, by extensive stretching of shameless imagination, be considered newsy gossip, but to publicize the slings and arrows of his outrageous judgments of skillful athletes in other sportin' pursuits is a downright civil sacrilege.

His latest marks are blue collar Padre toilers Mark Parent and Mike Pagliarulo, as fine a pair of hard working lads as you'll find this side of the steel mills.

Burton who claims not to even know the name of any Padre player save Tony Gwynn and Benito Santiago, puts Pags down with a snide swipe at his name, calling him "Paglisomething." He brushes Parent aside with the putdown, (reported by the San Diego Union's excellent football sports writer T.J. Simers)"...Who? Oh geez, now the second team is ripping me."

Don't go, there's more. "we're talking about a guy who's two steps away from being in the minors."

No one is disputing the idea that a defensive lineman has a difficult time understanding the mechanics of baseball, where a team of 24 players work together over a 162 game schedule.

Such sportin' labor is probably incomprehensible to persons of football mentality. But to say you have never heard of such internationally known baseballers as Jack Clark, Joe Carter, Roberto Alomar, Bruce Hurst, Gary Templeton or Eddie Lee Whitson, just to name a few, makes you wonder if the guy really can read without moving his lips.

Burton will undoubtedly move on to bigger and more juicy gossip as he gives the world (that enriches him with megabucks) the questionable richness of his perception on the state of things.

He'll also have to dig in and play as great as he says he is when the Chargers host the back to back World Champion San Francisco 49ers Saturday night at San Diego Jack Murphy Stadium.

Teams have to cut 20 players after Saturday's game and there are probably several 49er hopefuls who would love a chance to make an impression by cutting off the big wind from Pittsburgh on their way to earning a berth on the San Francisco roster.

That's the price you pay when you write for a big-time slick.

Gasoline saving tips

Even though California and the nation have adequate petroleum supplies, there are actions we can take to save fuel and money. According to the California Energy Commission, practicing energy conservation habits is always a good idea!

Right now is an especially good time to re-think driving habits to reduce costs and save fuel. Regardless of the price of gasoline, efficient driving makes sense. By using these fuel-saving tips, consumers can reduce gasoline consumption by as much as ten percent:

- Avoid jerky driving and excessive speed; jack-rabbit starts and fast getaways can burn 50 percent more gasoline than a brisk, smooth acceleration.

- If stopping for more than 30 seconds, turn off the car, restarting your engine uses less gasoline.

- Remove luggage racks and any other extra weight in the car. On the average, each 100 pounds of needless weight will cost you up to one-half mile per gallon.

- Keep tires properly inflated, as low tire pressure reduces gasoline mileage and causes increased tread wear.

- Before starting, combine errands to make one longer run rather than a series of short trips. The most frequent trip in California is less than one mile, and, when cold, engines get poor mileage.

- Balance the car tires and make sure the wheels are in alignment.

- Be practical in using your car's air conditioner. Even without the air conditioner, wind drag lessens fuel economy at speeds greater than 55 miles per hour.

- Use public transportation or carpool whenever possible. You'll save gasoline and help cut pollution at the same time.

- Think seriously about person-powered transportation such as bicycling, roller skating, skate boarding, or even that old standby walking.

For more information and brochures about energy efficiency and conservation, call the California Energy Commission at (916) 324-3000 or write to California Energy Commission, 1516 Ninth Street, MS 13, Sacramento, California 95814.

Joe Freed on the Movies

This week's movie: Wild at Heart

"Wild at Heart"

Sailor Ripley just bashed someone's head in.

No...I don't think that's descriptive enough. Let's try this: Sailor Ripley just slammed someone's head onto a marble floor over and over again, until blood spurted all over the walls and brains splattered everywhere. All within the first two minutes of the film.

Be warned. "Wild at Heart" is indeed just that, and director David Lynch has served up another helping of sensual, sadistic mayhem. If graphic violence, steamy sex, or four-hundred pound women dancing nude might offend you, stay away. But for those of us that enjoy Lynch's characteristic weirdness, and don't mind an occasional head getting blown off (and then bouncing off the wall)...our time has come!

Nicolas Cage stars as Sailor Ripley, a tragic hero with tendencies for homicide and Elvis impersonations. After a few years in prison for the before mentioned brain-bashing, Sailor is released on good behavior. Before you know it, he grabs his nymphomaniac sidekick Lula Pace Fortune, (Laura Dern), breaks parole and heads for California. The law isn't Sailor's main concern however, for Lula's mother Marietta, played by Dern's real-life mother, Diane Ladd, hates him with a passion. She sends her lover Johnnie Farragut, (Harry Dean Stanton), to retrieve them, and when he fails, she resorts to sending Marcello Santos, (J.E. Freeman), underworld scum.

An array of twisted events ensue, as Sailor and Lula embark on a frightening adventure.

In the tradition of his infamous "Blue Velvet," Lynch again gives us a peek at society's dark side. Murderers, lunatics and bed wetters lurk in every corner. Willem DaFoe co-stars as Bobby Peru, who is basically a disgusting pig. Isabella Rossellini is the deceitful Perdita Durango, and Crispin Glover is Lula's cousin Dell, who has cockroaches in his underpants. Fans of Lynch's T.V. series "Twin Peaks" should keep an eye out for Sherilyn Fenn, (Audrey on "Peaks"), as an automobile accident victim, and Sheryl Lee, (Laura Palmer herself!), as one of Sailor's hallucinogenic visions.

Symbolically, "Wild at Heart" is surprisingly simplistic, the only motif is that of fire, and Lynch overdoses it with close-ups of igniting matches. There are also thematic references to "The Wizard of Oz" throughout, with Lula as Dorothy and Marietta as the Witch of the West. The relationship between the two films is sometimes forced, but is usually adds humorous relief to an exhausting plot.

"Wild at Heart" normally wouldn't reach a very large audience, except for David Lynch fans, but riding on the success of "Twin Peaks" and "Blue Velvet," the film has opened in a larger number of theatres. Maybe a new set of moviegoers will acquire a taste for the bizarre.

The Pulitzer Prize-winning drama of American life during the first decade of the twentieth century will open August 24, 1990 at the Lowell Davies Festival Theatre, Simon Edison Centre for the Performing Arts, Balboa Park. Performances will continue at 8:00 p.m. nightly (except Monday) through September 30, 1990. Edward Payson Call, director of five Shakespearean plays at the Old Globe in past Festival seasons, will direct "Our Town." He has directed many plays at principal resident theatres throughout the United States.

"Our Town" recipient of the Pulitzer Prize for Drama in 1938, captures scenes from life in a small fictional community of Grover's Corners, NH, between 1901 and 1913.

The teenage neighbors and schoolmates who discover their mutual love and marry are portrayed by Shad Willingham (George Gibbs) and Cynthia Nixon (Emily Webb). Nixon, in her Old Globe debut, has acted on Broadway in "The Heidi Chronicles," "Hurlyburly" and "The Real Thing." She portrayed Juliet in "Romeo and Juliet" for the New York Shakespeare Festival and has performed major roles in many regional theatres.

Willingham is a member of the Young Globe Company and recently graduated from the North Carolina School of the Arts.

The parents will be played by Mitchell Edmonds and Jill Andre (Dr. and Mrs. Gibbs), Nicholas Pryor and Teri Ralston (Mr. and Mrs. Webb). Other family members are Roy Shanks (Rebecca Gibbs) and Sean Sedgwick (Wally Webb).

Edmonds has acted in 18 previous Old Globe Theatre productions during the past six years. Andre has performed in numerous major Broadway and off-Broadway plays. She has acted in several feature films and television dramas. She is making her Old Globe debut.

Pryor's Broadway credits include "That Championship Season," "The Egghead," "Who's Afraid of Virginia Woolf?," "Thieves," "Howie" and "Love Me A Little." He has acted off-Broadway and in major regional theatres as well as feature film and television dramas.

Ralston recently portrayed a leading role in Starlight Musical Theatre's "Follies." He acted in the original Broadway casts of "Company" and "A Little Night Music" as well as in "Home Again, Home Again," "Sondheim: A Musical Tribute" and "Jaques Brel..."

Appearing as townsfolk in "Our Town" will be Luther Hanson (Howie Newsome), Ryan Conner (Joe and Si Crowell), Robert Phalen (Simon Stimson), Larry Corodemas (Constable Warren), Mary Benson (Mrs. Soames), Sheldon Gero (Joe Stoddard), David S. Cohen (Farmer McCarthy), Tavis Ross (Professor Willard), and Mark Hofflund (Sam Craig).

Others in the large cast are Sue-Anne Morrow, M. Susan Peck, Therese Walden, Robert LaPorta, Arthur Morton, Triney Sandoval and Georgia Martin.

"Our Town" has been underwritten by generous grants from the ARCO Foundation and Home Savings of America.

Scenery is designed by Ralph Funicello, scenic designer for "Hamlet," last summer's "Driving Miss Daisy" and "Measure for Measure". Costume designer is Associate Artist Lewis Brown, who also is doing "Hamlet." Peter Maradudin, lighting designer, also designed lights for "As You Like It" this summer plus several previous Old Globe Theatre productions. Associate Artist Conrad Susa is composing the score of "Our Town."

Other Festival 1990 late summer productions will be William Shakespeare's "Hamlet," directed by Artistic Director Jack O'Brien, August 30 through October 7; and "Heartbeats" by Amanda McBroom, directed by Bill Castellino, September 5 through October 21.

ECPAC jazz finale on Sunday

Inspired by the Dixieland Jazz groups of the 20's and 30's, this quintet has earned a wonderful reputation both here and abroad. They have three albums of their own, performed on numerous others with well-known American jazz artists and appeared on a variety of radio and television shows. The "South Market Street Jazz Band," a local group, will accompany the "Stompers."

Tickets are $10 for general admission and $6 for students. For more information, call 440-2277.

Free bus pass to Grossmont College

Grossmont College Students are eligible to receive a free six-week bus pass thanks to a joint partnership between the San Diego County Transit System (SDCTS) and Grossmont-Cuyamaca College District.

SDCTS officials said the passes will be issued during registration. With the pass, students will have unlimited free rides on any SDCTS East County route from August 27 through October 5, 1990. Normally the one-way fare is 75 cents. Over 500 four-week passes were given away last year.

Students can obtain the passes from the schools security office, cashier or student government office.

SDCTS will also supply students with information on the easiest ways to get to and from classes using public transportation.

These routes include 854 and 858, which provide direct service to the college from Lakeside, Santee, La Mesa, El Cajon, Rancho San Diego and Casa De Oro.

"Over the last two years, ridership on East County SDCTS buses has increased by 70%, and the free pass program has played an important part in this rise," said Bowman. "Students find the routes to be very convenient, the buses drop students off on campus, and SDCTS routes and frequency can fit most students schedules."

Band sale bursting with bargains

Mt. Miguel High School Band will be holding their first big fund raiser for the new school year. A Rummage Sale is planned for this coming Saturday and Sunday, August 25 and 26, 1990 from 7 a.m. to 7 p.m. on Saturday and from 7 a.m. to 1 p.m. on Sunday. It will be held in the Mt. Miguel High School parking lot at 1800 Sweetwater Rd. in Spring Valley. Over 100 families have cleaned out their garages and closets. There will be bargains for everyone. It is hoped that many in the community will come out and support one of San Diego County's finest bands. Everyone

Both agencies hope the plan will encourage students to utilize public transportation in order to help reduce traffic congestion and ease the college's current parking crunch.

All SDCTS buses serving the East County are air-conditioned and come equipped with wheelchair lifts.

The 125 member band and specialty corps. is looking forward to another award-winning year, but needs community support to help finance their planned trips.

Anyone who has things they would like to donate for the Rummage Sale may bring them to the school parking lot this Friday night or anytime on Saturday.

All donations are greatly appreciated and are income tax deductible.

Sheriff's expanding D.A.R.E.

The San Diego County Sheriff's Department is expanding its participation in the D.A.R.E. (Drug Abuse Resistance Education) Program in the 1990-1991 school year. The contract cities of Lemon Grove and Imperial Beach will each be contracting for one-half of a deputy to administer the program in their respective school districts. A second deputy will be funded in part by the contract city of Solana Beach, with the majority of funding for this deputy being accomplished by using Sheriff's Asset Seizure Funds.

On August 7, 1990, the San Diego County Board of Supervisors approved the recommendations of the Sheriff's Department to use Asset Seizure Funds for a deputy to administer the D.A.R.E. Program in the unincorporated areas of Rancho Santa Fe and Bonita.
